PRESS RELEASE

Cache Summit to Address Solutions to Growing Pains

LOGAN, UTAH – Representatives from both the private and public sectors will brainstorm solutions tomorrow to some of Cache County’s most challenging growth issues at the 2021 Cache Summit. The annual event will be held at the Cache County Fairgrounds Event Center. The event’s theme is Understanding and Responding to Change. Speakers and attendees will grapple with topics affected by growth, including housing, water, transportation, economic development and conservation.

“With the rapid growth we’re experiencing in Cache County, we need our best and brightest to put their heads together to find solutions to the challenges we’re facing,” said County Executive David Zook, who will emcee the event. “We can let the growth control us, or we can control the growth – but if we’re smart about how we grow, we can turn a potential negative into a positive.”

The event kicks off at 9 a.m. and includes keynote addresses focusing on how local governments are dealing with growth and how changes in the development market are affecting the private sector. Other topics to be covered include trails, agritourism, housing barriers, the Logan River Taskforce, and infrastructure planning, among others. Mr. Zook will also moderate a panel of state legislators that will focus on transportation, conservation, water and the economy.
